BOAT CREWS ARE WORKING HARD

GOOD RACES WILL BE THE ORDER OF THE DAY AT PEARL HARBOR ON THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Big doings are slated for the races at Pearl Harbor on the Fourth. Never before have the crews of the different boats worked so hard and consistently. Every evening they can be seen on their way to Pearl Harbor and their daily row comes off as regularly as clock work. All are set on winning the race and all are getting in the best possible trim for the event.

In the big race that is slated between the Heianis and the Myrtles the Myrtles are a shade if anything the favorites. It is hard to size the two crews up but it is said that the Myrtles have a good crew to work up hill so that if the Heianis get the start they may have to pull hard to get to the line first. The Heianis on the other hand are very fast in picking up their speed and have a wonderful ability to spurt and that spurt may win the race for them.

The Junior crews are also training hard. They will make a close race from start to finish and should make much excitement for the crowd.

Between the Elks and the University crew lies much good natured rivalry and both crews are leaving nothing unturned in order to win. The University crew rows entirely different style from the Elks. The former have short fast stroke and the Elks a long slower one but one which will take them over the water speedily. The betting is running about even no odds being offered.

A bunch of the local sports go down to the harbor every evening in order to size the crowd up but they do not tell much as to the shape matters are in.

The races this year will be the best in years according to the interest and spirit shown by the different crews.

INTERRUPTED' HONEYMOON

SEQUEL TO A WEDDING LUNcheon AT THE KAKAOKO MISSION LAST WEEK.

From the altar to jail is a sudden transition for a young man but such is the fate of one George Kaupena and instead of enjoying his honeymoon in approved style, George will probably have to pass it breaking rock.

Last Friday night George Kaupena was married to Miss Kauai at Kakaoko Mission. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. Westervelt in the presence of a large crowd. A luncheon followed the happy event.

But the minions of the law were on the trail of Cupid and they proceeded, metaphorically to gar Kaupena from the arms of his bride yesterday morning and haul him to the police station to answer to the charge of larceny. Kaupena had assisted in the theft of 2,800 pounds of pig lead from the government's Beretania street pumping station.

Kaupena was arrested by Officer Carl F. Rose and soon confessed his guilt. Kaupena had disposed of the stolen stuff to various Japanese and Chinese.

Twenty-eight pieces of the lead were stolen. According to the statements of Kaupena he was aided in the theft by one Nalau. The lead had been delivered at the corner of Pauahi and Maunakea streets and Kaupena got Japanese and Portuguese expressmen to haul the stuff from that point to the various places where he sold it.

Kaupena said he gave $37 to a man named Allen who left for Maui last week on the Claudine, to work for the Walluku Sugar Company. The remainder of the money was spent in having a "good time" on Saturday. The theft of the lead was done on Thursday night.

IN ALGIERS.

Gilbert Watson writes of an early morning impression at Biskra, Algeria: "The white walls of the house showed like blanched faces in the dawn—silent as fire-worshippers awaiting the sun. The fringe of palms facing the east stole on the sight, pale as phantoms, motionless, their drooping leaves awash with silver. Behind the town the oasis massed itself in impenetrable obscurity. Far off, a neutral-tinted line spoke of the desert. Day after day had this line beckoned to me, decking itself in elemental jewels like a siren seeking to please."
